

Elizabeth Insuasti is a rising junior at FAU. She was born and raised in South Florida and aspires to graduate with a bachelor's degree double majored in Political Science and History. Her future goals are to attend law school to specialize in immigration law. Additionally, she is passionate about social change, literature, film, and community impact. She loves to watch movies, listen to music, write, read, and bake in her free time. Elizabeth is honored to be a part of the Undergraduate Law Journal of FAU.

AUTHOR BIOGRAPHIES

Giuliana Gibson is a junior at Florida Atlantic University. This is her first year being a part of the Undergraduate Law Journal of FAU. She's Majoring in healthcare administration with a minor in business law and healthcare information systems. Her plans after graduation include attending law school in Florida.

Victoria Denbow is a senior at Florida Atlantic University. She's currently majoring in International Business with a minor in Business Law. Her future career endeavors include going to law school, passing the bar exam, and becoming an attorney while helping her community.

Shania Grant is a student at Florida Atlantic University majoring in Political Science and minoring in Spanish at the College of Arts and Letters. Her research interests concentrate on criminal justice, specifically reentry and reintegration of offenders into communities, and how to prevent reoffending. After her undergraduate studies, Shania plans to pursue a career as an attorney.

Kendyl Lake is a Criminal Justice and Political Science dual major with a minor in Business Law. She is currently the vice president of Florida Atlantic University's first-ever mock trial club and is also writing an undergraduate honors thesis. After graduating in the fall of 2023, she hopes to attend law school to follow her passion for the law that extends beyond the courtroom and into the personal lives of those she wishes to help.

Kayla Mae Blount is a Political Science major in the College of Arts & Letters at Florida Atlantic University. She is a member of Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity and currently is a member of Undergraduate Law of FAU. Her passion comes from her love of all thing's liberty, equality, freedom and justice. She believes there is a great need for objectivity in our society. After she successfully completes her undergraduate career, she plans to attend law school and pursue her career as a trial attorney.

Cassidy Naffziger is a senior double majoring in Criminal Justice and Communication Studies. She is passionate about the law and is especially interested in justice system reforms. She is also a member of Phi Alpha Delta and Mock Trial. After graduating, Cassidy hopes to attend law school and focus on criminal law.

Tatum Meder is a current junior. Majoring in Business Management with a focus in Leadership and Applied Managerial Skills with a minor in Business Law studies. She will graduate in the fall of 2022 and will then continue her education at law school beginning in the fall of 2023. She plans to emphasize the study of corporate law.

Nephtalie Bazalais is a senior at Florida Atlantic University completing a Bachelor of Business Administration in Finance with a minor in Business Law and she will graduate in the Summer of 2022. As an aspiring lawyer, she is committed to growing her legal knowledge through academic research, collegiate organization involvements like Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity, as well as internships. Her passion for legal research and writing has led her to connect with the Undergraduate Law Journal at FAU, where she soon became a published author. Nephtalie intends to pursue a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree, with a concentration in business law at a Florida law school.