

Annual Florida Historical Society Awards

The Florida Historical Society annually awards three literary prizes for original work done in Florida history. The awards for 1990 were announced at the annual meeting held in Orlando, May 9-11, 1991.

The Arthur W. Thompson Memorial Prize in Florida History was awarded to Susan R. Parker, University of Florida, for her article, "Men Without God or King: Rural Settlers of East Florida, 1784-1790," which appeared in the October 1990 issue of the Florida Historical Quarterly.

The Rembert W. Patrick Memorial Book Award went to Dr. Joseph Frazier Wall, Grinnell College, for his book, Alfred I. duPont: The Man and His Family, which was published by Oxford University Press.

The Charlton W. Tebeau Book Award was presented to Mary E. Lyons, Charlottesville, Virginia, for her book, Sorrow's Kitchen: The Life and Folklore of Zora Neale Hurston. Mrs. Lyons's book was published by Macmillan Publishing Company.

The Florida Historical Society recognizes outstanding essays in Florida history submitted by graduate and undergraduate students. The LeRoy Collins Prize went to James A. Schnur, a graduate student at the University of South Florida, for his paper, Academic Freedom and Intellectual Inquiry in Florida's Public Universities, 1956-1964. The winner of the Caroline Mays Brevard Prize was Laurie Lomascolo, an undergraduate student at the University of South Florida, for her paper, Ormond-on-the-Halifax. The Society also recognizes outstanding essays in Florida history by a middle-high school student. The Frederick Cubberly Prize went to Jessica Van Leer-Viscomi of Tavares Middle School in Lake County, and to her teacher, Steven A. Farrell.

The Society awarded seven Golden Quill Awards, which are given for outstanding media participation relating to Florida history. The recipients are: Florida Public Radio Center; Pensacola News-Journal; Stuart McIver, Sunshine Magazine; Leland Hawes, Tampa Tribune; James C. Clark, Orlando Sentinel; and WUFT-TV5, University of Florida.
