

Corn needs room to grow. So do people.

In the Corn Products Unit of CPC North America, we realize that our people need a wide-open environment to thrive and grow to their full potential.

To promote such growth, we try to provide employees with both the right blend of career nutrients and nurturing work conditions.

And it works, too. With their help, we've become one of the nation's leaders in the research, process and manufacture of corn-based industrial and home products.

Each year the Unit recruits some of the nation's brightest and most promising students to work for us. This year, we're looking for people with Chemical Engineering and Microbiology backgrounds. Perhaps you qualify.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER M/F

If you do, we'll give you a chance to experience a wide variety of job assignments and challenges. And through the coming years, we'll offer professional career counseling and on-the-job training to help you keep exploring your needs, goals and dreams.

Because the employee turnover rate at CPC is very low, we feel we're successful at meeting our people's expectations. You might say now we're reaping the benefits of their growth!

If you think you'd like to grow with us,
