2003 Handbook of Employment Regulations Affecting Florida Farm Employers and Workers: Transportation -- Motor Carrier Safety Regulations for Transporting Migrant Farm Workers [Federal]¹

Leo C. Polopolus, Michael T. Olexa, Fritz Roka, and Carol Fountain²

Purpose

Establishes safety and other standards regarding the transportation of migrant farmworkers.

The DOL adopted, virtually intact, the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulation dealing with the transportation of migrant and seasonal agricultural workers.

Applicable Laws

The transportation of migrant and seasonal farmworkers is governed by the DOT's Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations and regulations adopted by the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) in implementing the Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act (MSPA).

In addition, the DOL adopted its own vehicle standards for automobiles and station wagons used to transport migrant and seasonal agricultural workers and all other vehicles used to transport migrant and seasonal agricultural workers for trips of seventy-five miles or less (excluding day-haul operations). (See EDIS document FE406, Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act (MSPA) [Federal].)
