

Grandparents Raising Grandchildren: Financial Assistance<sup>1</sup>

Maisie Ross, Larry Forthun, Millie Ferrer-Chancy, and Angela Falcone<sup>2</sup>

Goal: To provide information about financial assistance that is available in the state of Florida for grandfamilies.

It is often difficult to house, feed, and clothe an added individual to the family. This is more difficult when you are on a limited income. You and your grandchildren may be entitled to receive financial assistance. Listed below are several of these programs.

CASH ASSISTANCE

Temporary Cash Assistance (TCA)

This program, also called Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF), offers cash assistance for low-income families. There are different rules for receiving cash assistance, but eligibility is determined by residency, income, and assets. You may qualify to receive benefits as a family, or your grandchildren can receive benefits under the child only grant. With the child only grant, your grandchildren may be able to receive benefits until they are 18 (or 19 if they are still in high school). Cash assistance is limited to a lifetime total of 48 months.

TCA-Relative Caregiver Program

This program provides monthly cash assistance and benefits for children living with relative caregivers. The amount of cash assistance depends upon the age of your grandchild. Payments are slightly higher than TCA. To qualify for this program:

- You must live in the State of Florida.
- You must have custody of your grandchildren; they were placed with you by a Florida court and the Department of Children and Families (or contracted provider).
- Your grandchildren must be younger than 18.
- You must agree to a background check and home study completed by the Department of Children and Families (or contracted provider).
- You must cooperate with child support enforcement.

FOOD AND NUTRITION ASSISTANCE

Food Stamps

The Food Stamp Program helps limited-income families pay for food. When a family applies, this program considers...

- the total monthly household income of each adult,
- the value of items owned (not including your house), and
- other family expenses.

Supplemental Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC)

WIC provides monthly food checks that can be used to purchase foods that improve the nutritional quality of a child's diet. The types of foods you can purchase may vary, but can include: cereal, milk, eggs, cheese, juice, and beans. Your grandchild must be under the age of 5 to qualify. There are income requirements to receive WIC, but if your family qualifies for Medicaid, Food Stamps, and TAC, you will very likely qualify for WIC. To apply for WIC, you will need to prove legal custody or guardianship of your grandchildren.

ENERGY ASSISTANCE

Low-Income Energy Assistance Program

This program provides money to local governments to assist low-income families with home heating and cooling costs. Eligibility is determined by the local agency; however, you may be eligible if you are currently receiving the following assistance:

- Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- Food Stamps

CHILD CARE ASSISTANCE

School Readiness Program

Coping with the demands of caring for children on a daily basis can be very stressful. You may need to work at the same time you are caring for your grandchild. The Florida Agency for Workforce Innovation, Office of Early Learning provides financial assistance to low income families for child-care services. Childcare services include extended-day, extended-year, and school age care. Eligibility requirements vary by county.

TAX CREDITS

Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC)

You may qualify for EITC if you meet all of these criteria:

- Your grandchild is under age 19 or under age 24 and is a full-time student
- Your grandchild has lived in your home for more than 6 months of the tax year.
- You pay more than 50% of your grandchild's support and the child is not claimed as a dependent by the parent
- You have worked during the tax year

OTHER RESOURCES

The National Council on Aging sponsors a Web site called Benefits Checkup. It is designed to help you find local resources and benefits for a variety of needs (cash, food, housing, medical, and more). The process usually takes about 20–30 minutes. The Benefits Checkup Web site is accessible at the following URL:
