Preface
This handbook is designed to provide an accurate, current, and authoritative summary of the principal federal and state (Florida) laws that directly or indirectly relate to agriculture. This handbook provides a basic overview of the many rights and responsibilities that farmers and farmland owners have under both federal and state laws as well as the appropriate contact information to obtain more detailed information. However, the reader should be aware that because the laws, administrative rulings, and court decisions on which this handbook is based are subject to constant revision, portions of this publication could become outdated at any time. Several details of cited laws are also left out due to space limitations.

This handbook is distributed with the understanding that the authors are not engaged in rendering legal or other professional advice, and the information contained herein should not be regarded as a substitute for professional advice. This handbook is not all inclusive in providing information to achieve compliance with the federal and state laws and regulations governing water protection. For these reasons, the use of these materials by any person constitutes an agreement to hold harmless the authors, the Florida Cooperative Extension Service, the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences, and the University of Florida for any liability claims, damages, or expenses that may be incurred by any person as a result of reference to or reliance on the information contained in this handbook.

Table of Contents

• Introduction (FE580)
• State Regulatory Powers (FE581)
• Federal Laws and Florida State Laws
• Clean Water Act (FE582)
• Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (FE583)
• Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (FE584)
• Florida Pollutant Discharge Prevention and Control Act (FE585)
• Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act (FE586)
• Safe Drinking Water Act (FE587)
• Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FE588)
Acknowledgments
The authors are indebted to the personnel of both state and federal agencies who provided their time and advice in the preparation of this handbook.