

TODAY IS THE DAY...

Day Zayas, Class of 2015

Today is the day you occupied space
Kicking and screaming in an alien place
With proud parents to guide you
You matured with the utmost of grace

Today is the day your dreams came true
Voicing vows between two
Making an everlasting promise
With the words, "I do"

Today is the day you are put to the test
Cries and joys showing no signs of rest
Rosy cheeks and button noses
Making events to come feel blest

Today is the day you let go
Your heartbeat now is moving slow
A piece of me starts to fade
Knowing our love could not grow

Today is the day I heard your laugh
I turned around to look for the past
Although your presence wasn't near
I know your spirit will always last