
COASTAL PHOTOGRAPH BY FRANK HYATT

PHOTO 11. Mountainous accumulation of about 200 tons of live Venus mercenaria (quahog, or hard-shelled clam). The clams were washed ashore at Barnegat Light, New Jersey, by a severe "Northeaster" storm on March 29, 1984, with winds in excess of 80 knots and sea level surge 2 m above normal.

[Frank Hyatt: World Wide Photos, Inc., 50 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10020, USA]