PHOTO 46. Collapsed block along the west bank of the Colville River, arctic Alaska. Ice wedges are exposed in both the block and the bank. The thermo-erosional niche has already been covered by material sloughed from the bank.