
Outside Reviewers 1988

The Associate Editors of JCR have the responsibility of conducting the review process, including the selection of reviewers, evaluation of manuscripts in the light of review comments, and making recommendations to the Editor-in-Chief concerning the ultimate disposition of manuscripts. Authors of potential articles in the Journal of Coastal Research will find significant representation of their specialties on the Editorial Board. Because we also frequently receive reviews from specialists outside of our own board, we acknowledge with thanks the following reviewers who have vetted papers submitted to the journal. Their interest and cooperation are appreciated.

Because CERF is concerned with broad environmental issues, our efforts concentrate on significant problems such as maintenance of good quality (potable) water with adequate supply, and hazards associated with potential beach erosion, flooding, and susceptibility of developed shorelines to storm surge and wave attack. By focusing attention on these potential man-made and natural hazards, it is hoped that our research efforts will help others improve the quality of life in diverse coastal areas. CERF thus aims to stimulate awareness of coastal (marine and freshwater shorelines) land and water problems; initiate and foster research and innovation to promote long-term coastal productivity; establish an educational forum for the debate of contentious coastal issues; and develop new principles and approaches for enlightened coastal management, and encourage their adoption and use.

CERF is associated with the Department of Geology at Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton, Florida 33431, and the Department of Environmental Sciences, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Virginia 22903. Internships for students at the University of Virginia provide "hands-on" experience with journal production and professional publishing in general. These associations provide a basis for cooperative investigation of biophysical resources found in open and naturally protected coastal regions, estuaries, large inland bodies of water bounded by shorelines, wetlands, and other coastal environments. Joint investigative efforts by faculty, students, and staff span a wide and diversified range of interrelated topics that are relevant to solutions of today's dynamic problems. It is hoped that these combined attempts to better understand the nature of coastal processes will help forestall what may become contentious issues of tomorrow.
