

HERBARIUM SPECIMENS OF THE ORCHIDACEAE
OF CENTRAL CENTRAL AMERICA — A CHECKLIST

*Emly S. Siegerist

As so often happens, the pursuit of one scientific endeavor leads to another. While researching a project it came to mind that it would greatly simplify a botanist's work if there were available a checklist of the specimens in various herbaria. Since I am interested primarily in the Orchidaceae of the central portion of Central America, i.e., Belize, Guatemala, Honduras, El Salvador, and Nicaragua, that area was delineated for this project.

Some of the major herbaria in this country and Central America were visited, specimens photographed, or in some instances merely noted, and this list compiled. It is not purported to be a complete listing as by its very nature a herbarium must be in a state of fluidity — specimens always out on loan, new sheets constantly being added, others being studied at the parent institution. Therefore, this compilation represents the central Central American orchid specimens present on the days I visited the herbaria, not their complete collection. Nevertheless, it has been made as comprehensive as possible.

Four of the herbaria cited (ITIC, HNMN, NIC, and NY) were not visited by the author, but photographs, and in some instances drawings, were acquired which serve as vouchers for the validity of their inclusion in this list.

In any treatment of the Orchidaceae, the question of current nomenclature arises. Not being a taxonomist, no attempt was made to verify the validity of the labels or annotation labels on the sheets. The list does, however, try to conform to the present thinking of taxonomists and therefore, as an example, Rhyncholaelia glauca will have its synonym Laelia glauca listed under it in parentheses. In an effort to conserve space, no cross index is provided.

No attempt has been made to supply all of the synonymy of the species. Only names under which specimens appear in the various herbaria, or those names still in common usage which have been reduced to synonymy have been included.

Understandably, this work could not have been accomplished without the help and cooperation of many people. An especial thanks must be given to Dr. Calaway Dodson of the Marie Selby Botanical Gardens in Sarasota, Florida, who offered much encouragement and assistance, in fact, even suggested the usefulness of such a checklist; to Dr. Leslie A. Garay of the Oakes Ames Orchid Herbarium at Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts, who helped immeasurably with the nomenclature, offered valuable photographic advice, and gave generously of his time to an aspiring student of the Orchidaceae; to Fritz Hamer of Marie Selby Botanical Gardens who so very generously shared his photographs and drawings from HNMN, ITIC, NIC, and his own works on the orchids of El Salvador and Nicaragua.

The herbarium abbreviations used are in most instances the standard ones with exceptions as noted below:

AMES - Oakes Ames Orchid Herbarium, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA
EAP - Escuela Agricola Panamericana, Zamorano, Honduras
